Matter Similes

Key Question: How can similes be used to compare and describe objects?

Directions: A simile compares two things, using the word “as” to connect them. For example, when describing a feather, you might write: “A feather feels as soft as cotton.” Think about what you know about the items listed below. Use your five senses and think of a simile to describe each item. Fill in the blanks to complete the similes.

1. Maple syrup looks as _____ as _____ smells as _____ as _____ tastes as _____ as _____ feels as _____ as _____

2. Candy-coated chocolates look as _____ as _____ smell as _____ as _____ taste as _____ as _____ feel as _____ as _____

3. Ice cubes look as _____ as _____
